MOONLIGHTERS

by CIN MARTINEZ

THEATER WORKS HARTFORD

From the Playwright

"The human eye can only see between 430 – 770 THz. Our ears can only detect sound between 20 Hz – 20 kHz. These ranges make up a fraction of the total sound and light frequency range. This means there is a lot going on around us that we cannot see, or hear."
– Conscious Arrival

Make no mistake, I have always been completely and utterly fascinated by the unknown. Particularly the cycle of life and what is next. The idea for MOONLIGHTERS floated and attached itself to me before I was done writing my last play. I held onto it with a tight grip. Call it appreciation, curiosity, or both. But somewhere, years later, in the middle of grappling with grief, I made a decision. I decided that yes the soul never dies and that somehow our memories travel with it. There is a realm within our realm of others, rooting for us, comforting us, and inspiring us. It is through those lenses that the world of MOONLIGHTERS became mas clarito.

What anchored the story was this unspoken deep value of friendships. The kind known to lift anyone out of a dark space.

So much of love is simply showing up. How do you show up for others, for yourself? Is forgiving essential to one's own healing?

Believing in a continuation of existence makes me feel warm, it makes me feel light.

There is so much to uncover in this one little life, while we have the chance. I invite you to wonder.

– Cin Martinez
